Apart from the usual arias for each role and the duets between them, the composer creates incredibly imaginative ensembles, like the famous septet in Act Two: starting with one, The Marriage of Figaro two, three, four, five, six and in the end seven characters discuss with each other during a thrilling music part, which lasts for twenty minutes without, however, losing its clarity and power. The duo decide to see out the comedy. This file is part of the Sibley Mirroring Project. FrancescoBussani.Reserveyourtablewhenselectingyourtheatreseats.
